The good news is that neither Lewis nor Clark looked menacing. We should have no problems getting that one approved. ☺ FYI: [Redacted] signed off on it today. It's moving to the next person for signature.

I love it...only kitties and bunnies allowed. Thanks!

Very Respectfully,

Good afternoon,
I asked [redacted] the NRO PSO, if fairing logos require White House approval. [redacted] said after the octopus logo, the White House threatened to require presidential approval if the NRO approved any more menacing logos. For the moment at least, D/NRO continues to retain the ultimate authority over logo designs.

Regards,
[redacted]
