MEMORANDUM FOR RECORD

In a telephone conversation with General Carter as of 1815 today, General Carter reported that he had sent Mr. Crowley to Sunnyvale to assume responsibility for CIA operations on the next CORONA mission. The gist of the discussion is contained in the following paraphrase.

McMillan: Will Mr. Crowley be prepared to release to General Greer or to his designated representative any and all technical information on the health and condition of the payload.

Carter: No. He will release any information that bears on the success of the operation or the decision to de-orbit.

McMillan: Whose judgment will determine whether a particular item of information is or is not relevant to the success of the operation or the decision to de-orbit.

Carter: Crowley's.

General Carter also stated that he was not willing to release the calibration data on the payload commands or the payload telemetry to General Greer or to his representatives.
