Thanks so much for the update. I will take a look at your email on the high side and get back to you on what might help for lessening the burden on providing data pertaining to the test plan. Thanks again.

I just sent you a status of everything on the high side. It doesn't have any documents attached, but lays out where everything is at and which documents we suggest requesting from the contractor. For the list of documents I can send you on JWICS, the program office has sorted through it and we are just working an IT issue with folder permissions.

I'll run down the answer to the question you posed below. One of the questions the program office has pertains to test plans. This is a very large amount of data that has numerous iterations. If you can help us understand what your intent is, perhaps we can work to provide the data that focuses more on what you are looking for.

Thank you for your patience. The team is small and has worked in the time between some significant milestones to review the documents requested.

If you have any additional questions, please do not hesitate to contact me.

Hello there,
Just dropping a note to inquire about the status of our request. The only two items I've received so far is the cost growth one-pager and the red team brief. I also wanted to ask if the brief is the only resulting written product of the review?

Thanks so much and looking forward to hearing from you.

Good evening [Redacted]

(b)(3) 31 USC § 711

Before we break for the weekend, I wanted to send a quick update regarding the program history timeline. The program team was (unknown to me) offsite the remainder of the week. I was unable to confirm a few details prior to sending you the timeline. I hope to have this rectified on Monday morning, and will close the loop with you ASAP.

My apologies for the delay. I hope you have a great weekend!

Hi [Redacted]

(b)(3)

I'm getting back to you on your question regarding the test plans. I think we just want to have an initial understanding of what the program was testing for (and not testing for), how the testing would take place, who had responsibilities and approval, and any risks and/or contingencies. I would rather this be at a higher level and then we can follow up in detail on specific points once we understand the approach taken. I was hoping you all might have something similar to the DOD TEMP- although a TEMP can be detailed, it's definitely at a higher level.

Hopefully this answers the question. If not, please let me know and we can discuss further.

Thanks so much.
