IV. OBJECTIVE

The objective of the MOL Executive Council Management Meeting is to provide a forum for discussion of major problem areas, both current and potential, which have not been resolved by normal management procedures, and for the periodic exchange of views between top-level Government and Contractor management.

V. POLICY

1. The MECMM is a management device intended for use by the Director, MOL Program, as he deems necessary and appropriate. Attendance, location, and subject matter for each MECMM may therefore vary, as a result of changing requirements and urgent developments, from the nominal situation herein described.
2. The MECMM will normally be chaired by the Director, MOL Program.

3. Attendance at MECMMs will be limited to the top-level executives who comprise the MOL Executive Council, and such others as the Director, MOL Program may elect to invite. An invitation will be extended to the Assistant Secretary of the Air Force (R&D).

4. MECMMs will normally be scheduled on a quarterly basis, with location rotating between Washington, Los Angeles and Contractors' plants.

5. The MECMM agenda will ordinarily include a brief review of program status to provide a frame of reference. Industry participants will be invited to suggest agenda items appropriate for executive level discussion.

VI. PROCEDURES

1. The MOL Program Office will prepare letters to industry participants explaining the purpose of the Executive Council and inviting their participation in the MECMM program.

2. Approximately six weeks prior to a scheduled MECMM, the MOL Program Office will contact the Council members, advising each of the location and date for the meeting. Members will be invited at this time to suggest agenda items.
3. Approximately three weeks prior to each scheduled MECMM, the MOL Program Office will prepare and forward to each Council member the formal meeting agenda, roster of attendees, and such other information as may be appropriate.

4. No formal minutes of MECMM proceedings will be published.

5. Security arrangements will be monitored by the MOL Program Office.
